The Museum requires four students for the position of Visitor Services Assistant/Collections Technician. Training is provided by the museum's staff and volunteers. With the aid of the staff, the students carry out the day to day operations of the museum throughout the summer season. In addition to day-to-day operations, a primary focus of the work term will be updating the collections database and developing a temporary exhibit. The students will also participate in the planning and implementation of three summer events: Family Fun Day, Open Cockpit Day and Wings & Wheels, as well as the expansion and improvement of the Museum's education program by developing additional STEM activities.

Employees work in a two-building complex and are expected to represent the museum in a professional manner.

Job Description – Visitor Services Assistant/Collections Technician:

- Greet museum guests upon arrival.
- Answer questions and provide information as required.
- Give tours of the facility.
- Operate the gift shop and perform cash balancing duties.
- Collect artifact information and enter into the collections database.
- Plan and implement three special events: Family Fun Day, Open Cockpit Day and Wings & Wheels.
- Research, develop and implement a temporary interpretive exhibit.
- Expand and improve the Museum's education program for visiting students as well as classroom visits by Museum volunteers. This work will include the development of hands-on STEM education activities.
- Assist with the implementation of a social media strategy, including the creation of content and organic posting to our social media platforms.
- Learn and adhere to the museum's policies and safety procedures.

- Take appropriate actions if a security or safety issue arises.
- Help keep the museum clean and tidy.
- Assist with grounds maintenance.
- Secure museum at the end of each day.
- Other duties as assigned.

Qualifications:

- Education Level – Grade 12, preference will be given to those with least one year of post-secondary education and an interest in or studying history and/or aviation.
- Experience in or knowledge of the use of Microsoft Office – (Word, PowerPoint & Excel).

Background:

Dedicated to the preservation of Atlantic Canada's rich civilian and military aviation history, the Atlantic Canada Aviation Museum (ACAM) has the most comprehensive collection east of Ottawa. ACAM is home to 25 aircraft and 2 simulators, including a full-size replica of the first aircraft to fly in Canada - the Silver Dart, the oldest home-built in Nova Scotia, a CF-101 Voodoo and a Grumman Avenger to name a few.

ACAM also showcases engines, uniforms, weapons, artwork and aviation memorabilia. Designed to be informative, from a heritage standpoint, visitors will leave with a greater knowledge of aviation. ACAM is open to the public daily from mid-May to September, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays in September and October, and Saturdays the remainder of the year. Off-season tours are available. ACAM also hosts events throughout the year.

Granted “Local Museum” status in 1989, it has been owned and operated by volunteers since its inception in 1977. The Atlantic Canada Aviation Museum’s vision is to be the focal point of Atlantic Canadian aviation: past, present and future. In 2020 we were one of the first four community museums in Nova Scotia to receive accreditation status through the Association of Nova Scotia Museums.

Characteristics of City/Region:

The Atlantic Canada Aviation Museum (ACAM) (<https://acamuseum.ca>) is located at 20 Sky Blvd, Goffs, across from the Halifax Stanfield International Airport; it is easily accessed from the adjacent Highway 102, the main route to and from Halifax, Nova Scotia’s capital city. There are numerous hotels nearby. It is a 30-minute drive to downtown Halifax, 20 minutes to Dartmouth or Bedford.
